

Name: Tan Eng Hui Patricia Michelle

Principal Clinical Psychologist, Psychology Department,
Institute of Mental Health
Adjunct Assistant Professor, National University of Singapore

Research/Innovation Interests:

- Cultural adaptation of standardized psychological assessments
- Validation and norming of culturally relevant standardized psychological assessments
- Participatory Action Research (PAR)
- Culturally sensitive psychotherapy

Email: Patricia_MEH_Yap@imh.com.sg

Biography

Patricia is the Research Lead for her department. As such, she has an abiding interest in helping translational research flourish in her department. Her strategic plan is for her department's researchers to be practitioner-scientists who answer research questions that matter to patients.

Selected Publications

- Low, B., & Yap-Tan, P. (2023). Countermeasures for health care disruptions during lockdowns. Disaster Medicine and Public Health Preparedness, 17, E106. doi:10.1017/dmp.2022.7
- Yap-Tan, P.M.E.H., & Foo, M.T.S. (2020). Clients' perspectives on therapists who build family and personal harmony. Journal of Family Therapy, 42, 271-290.