

Researcher Profile

Name: Soh Wei Jie

Present Appointment:
Senior Clinical Psychologist

Contact Information:
Institute of Mental Health, Singapore
Department of Developmental Psychiatry
Email: wei_jie_soh@imh.com.sg
Telephone: (65) 6435 3847

Research Areas:

- Autism Spectrum Disorders

Teaching Areas: NA

Awards/Honours (Post-PhD):

- National Medical Research Council Research Training Fellowship (2015) – Masters in Psychology (Clinical)

Career History:

- Research Assistant/Assistant Psychologist, Child Guidance Clinic (2012 – 2015)
- Clinical Psychologist, Child Guidance Clinic (2017)

Administrative Leadership: NA

Professional/Consulting Activities: NA

Major Publications:

Soh, W.J., Goh, T.J., Tan, B.L., Chan, J.L., & Sung, M. (2019 October). A feasibility trial on the use of a social robot to interact with children with autism spectrum disorders [Paper presentation]. Singapore Health and Biomedical Congress 2019: SHBC 2019, Singapore.

Soh, W.J., Goh, T.J., & Sung, M. (2019, July) Pathways to perceived stress in caregivers of individuals with autism spectrum disorders: The role of behavioural problems and parental mental health symptoms [Paper presentation]. 9th World Congress of Behavioural & Cognitive Therapies: WCBCT 2019, Berlin.

Soh WJ, Goh TJ, Sung M. (2015). Baseline quantitative electroencephalogram (qEEG) wave patterns between children with autism spectrum disorders and controls. Poster session presented at the Singapore Health and Biomedical Congress, Singapore.

WJ Soh, TJ Goh, Lai WW, Kua SM, Jang LY, M Sung (2014). The effectiveness of a multi-professional training module focusing on autism spectrum disorders. Poster presented at International Conference for Education, Psychology and Social Sciences, Taiwan.